Re: Silver Analysis

ICL offers trace metal analysis at both London Health Sciences Centre in London and at Hamilton General Hospital in Hamilton.

London Health Sciences Centre: Effective immediately, analysis of silver in all specimen types, performed at London Health Sciences Centre, is no longer available. The laboratory is developing new protocols for silver analysis and ICL will inform you when service resumes. Please note that trace element panels will continue being offered but no longer include silver.

Hamilton General Hospital: Silver analysis service at Hamilton General Hospital is uninterrupted. Please refer to ICL online test catalogue for test details:
